

THE JOURNEY HOME AND BACK

Our invisible Protagonist travels to Beverly Hills from parts unknown, at least to their employers. They walk from the bus unseen through the visual overload of Rodeo Drive, up the hill to the kitchens, gardens, and nurseries of the mansions that offer employment, and then back to the bus. There is a long way to walk, with few places to rest. This map makes visible the traces of their journey.